

CRUMPTON DENOUNCES KNIGHTS KU KLUX KLAN

Says Such is Mob Rule and Paves Highway From State of Civilization Back to Barbaric Jungles—Trails in Dust Fundamentals.

Texarkana, Texas, Sept. 7.—Denouncing the spirit of mob rule, State Representative S. J. Crumpton, joint author of the Crumpton-Patman anti-Ku Klux Klan measure directed against the activities of that organization in the state of Texas, gave out the following statement Sunday: "The mob that would take a prisoner from an officer to inflict punishment would under like conditions relieve an officer of his prisoner to escape punishment. Likewise, the officer that would deliver his prisoner to a mob for punishment would under like conditions deliver his prisoner to the mob to escape punishment."

"Such is mob rule and such conditions are paved highways from a state of civilization back to the jungles. Verily, I say unto you, there can be no middle ground, with the one it is law and order maintained by our constituted authority; with the other, it is mob rule by a set of men assuming an air of arrogance unheard of and heretofore without parallel."

"EVERY MAN SHALL HAVE DUE PROCESS OF LAW." "Talk about the enforcement of law! Do you mean to say that conditions are such that will justify the many in violating the fundamental law of both state and nation and the statutes thereof in order to punish one individual for violating one law. Such arrogance! Such a state of affairs is enough to make the man who thinks tremble with fear when he asks the watchman, please, sir, tell us of the morrow."

"The people wrote into the law with words that, 'no man shall be deprived of his liberty except by due process of the law of the land.' It must be by indictment of a legally constituted grand jury and it must begin, 'in the name and by the authority of the state of Texas.' This beginning is no idle waste of words. Nay, verily nay. It carries with it sovereignty. It means that I am arraigned by sovereign power, my state. The mob trails into dust these fundamentals and arrogates to itself rules of procedure to guide them except the excitement of the hour, with no penalties to be imposed except the merciless lash on bare flesh that they apply in their wild orgy to their heart's content. These things are done in the face of another fundamental law which says 'that no cruel and unusual punishment shall ever be inflicted.'"

"The fundamental law also says that the accused shall have a public trial. This guaranty is for the purpose of the public eye to be on the courts of this country when they deal with men and their liberties. The mob violates this in spirit and letter. They have no trial and they inflict their punishment beyond where the eye can not see and the ear does not hear."

"In this matter I care not for the identity of the man or men. In fact, the world will go on with very little hindrance if we should lose nothing but men. But I am concerned about the maintenance of a constitutional government. It is the handiwork of sacrifice of the ages. Its every word and letter is stained with human blood. Its guarantees make every man a sovereign, but give to no man a crown. It says to the crowned king that he must not enter your door without your consent, and the reason is that royalty exists in that home, because it is occupied by an American citizen, whose rights are guarantees as a matter of law."

Mr. Crumpton was especially bitter in his arraignment of the men who on the floor of both the Texas house and senate continually blocked efforts of proponents of the anti-Ku Klux measure, by points of order, to get the measure to a vote. He also bitterly criticized the masked men who during the past few days have taken certain individuals out of the city, flogged them and ordered them to leave town.

Criticizes Rep. Rountree's Defense Of Education

(Editor Geo. H. Boynton in Comanche Chief)

Hon. Lee J. Rountree, editor of the Bryan Eagle and member of the Texas House of Representatives, has been writing articles to the Dallas News regretting the sentiment that seemed to prevail in that branch of the legislature in favor of cutting salaries of professors in the State University, and he urges a constitutional amendment fixing a special tax to be collected for the maintenance of that institution. Representative Rountree made probably the ablest speech in the Texas legislature this session in defense of the A. and M. College Appropriation Bill. Of course he defended the State University and received much applause.

Representative Rountree, like all who have favored spending immense sums for the university, refers often to the constitution which says Texas shall maintain a university of the "first class" and thinks by that they are justified in opening up the state treasury and telling the managers of that institution to "help themselves" to as much as they want. They forget that with the provision calling for a "university of the first class" there is also provided a means to maintain such a school; but the trouble is the board of regents and others disregarded the plain provisions of the constitution as to the revenues for the support of the university and have reached their hands into the state treasury in a manner never contemplated by the fathers who had in mind the establishment of an institution of that kind.

Representative Curtis of Fort Worth, with a deep concern for the tax-burdened people of the state, says Texas does not need the university, and he is correct. The argument that we ought to keep the money in Texas and provided an institution at home for the youth of Texas who want a higher education sounds fine, but what is there in it to the great body of men and women who pay the taxes to keep up such an institution? Why should the taxpayers be burdened with maintaining such an institution that calls for the expenditure of millions of money each year, when nine-tenths of the boys and girls of Texas never see inside of it. Why not let those seeking a higher education go to Harvard or Yale, and pay their own expenses? It costs a young man from $500 to $1,000 a year in addition to what the state pays him to attend the state university, and nobody outside of Austin gets any benefit from this expenditure. We do not see how it is saving anybody any money to maintain a lot of professors down there at big salaries and build a lot of fine buildings just to have the name of running a big school. This thing is going to be discussed by the people of Texas and will probably be a live issue in the campaign next year. The regents who have had the affairs of the university in charge have permitted so much graft or misuse of funds in the conduct of the institution that the people have about gotten tired of it, and they also see an effort manifested by the president and students who attend the university to control the legislature and force it to accede to their demands. This doesn't go very well in Texas.

CHAMBER COMMERCE IS HOST TO TEACHERS AT MAMMOTH FROLIC

Under the auspices of Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce approximately eight hundred of the teachers attending the institute this week at A. & M. College were entertained Tuesday night at the Baptist tabernacle from 8 to 10:30 o'clock. There are nearly 800 in attendance at the institute but all did not avail themselves of the opportunity offered them by the Chamber of Commerce to spend an enjoyable evening at the tabernacle, although of the number attending the eight counties composing the institute were fully represented. Special cars were run on the Interurban for the benefit of the teachers and the last load of them arrived at the place of entertainment shortly after 8 o'clock.

Oak McKenzie, chairman of the entertainment committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, was in charge of the evening program and was assisted by Mrs. T. A. Adams, Miss Sarah Williams, Mrs. J. W. Black, Miss Margaret Stephens, Miss Vivian Howell and Mrs. Milton Davis. Refreshments of punch were served during the evening and various contests in which all indulged constituted the program. The teachers were grouped according to the county which they represented, there being eight groups representing Leon, Robertson, Grimes, Brazos, Freestone, Limestone, Madison and Burleson counties. Each group was supposed to represent a university named from the county of the group and each chose representatives to participate in the contests.

The contest consisted of ten events in each of which points were awarded the participants, and at the conclusion prizes were awarded to the ones having the highest number of points. The first event was to fill a bucket with sand and the award was a bucket of peanuts. The next on the program was a contest in imitation. Representatives of the various "universities" showed great skill in imitating the sound characteristically made by certain animals, such as the donkey, chickens, birds, etc. Then followed in rapid succession contests in tape cutting, left-handed writing on blackboard. Another sending of a telegram to the "home folks" in which each letter in the word "college" was to be the initial one in each of the seven words composing the telegram. Miss Sarah Williams played several old songs and the various "universities" began singing them as soon as they were recognized, the first to recognize the name of the song being awarded additional points toward the grand prize of the evening, which was a "silver" loving cup presented by the Chamber of Commerce.

The "college grind" was enjoyed by all. The girls were formed into a great circle inside a larger circle of men and at a given signal the girls turned around and moved to the right and talked to the man opposite for thirty seconds and again moved on until the circuit was completed, thus giving all the opportunity to get acquainted. The Bryan junior band furnished music for the occasion, while all those present entered into the contests with zeal thus making the two hours pass lightly for all. At the close of the contests President W. B. Bizzell of A. & M. College awarded the "silver" loving cup to the ones gaining highest number of points in the contests after Official Record Keeper C. L. Beason and Prof. Madison Hall, chief judge, announced the winners. At 10:30 the return trip to College was begun in the special cars provided for the teachers and all seemed satisfied with the evening of fun and frolic.

"AMERICANIZATION" SUBJECT M'DOUGAL'S ADDRESS IN BRYAN

(By B. B. Faubion)
Speaking at the Baptist Tabernacle Monday night on the subject "Americanization" the Rev. William McDougal, the great militant minister who reorganized the prison system of Alabama and made it one of the best in the Union, held an audience of several hundred people for nearly two hours alternately with his characteristic Scotch pathos and sincerity and subtle and irresistible humor and optimism. He was speaking in Bryan under the auspices of the local chapter of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and, although not a member of the secret organization, Mr. McDougal said he heartily endorsed it because of the fact that some of its enemies, notably the Roman Catholic church, were bending all their efforts to counteract the influence of the Klan and that he knew such organizations as the ones most active in opposition to the Klan were "anti-American" in both creed and practice.

A great crowd had filled the Tabernacle several minutes before 8 o'clock, the time advertised for the speaking, and promptly at the hour Dr. John A. Held, pastor of the First Baptist church, called the house to order, asked the audience to sing "America," and Rev. H. C. Willis, pastor of the First Methodist church, opened the service with a few words of prayer. Dr. Held introduced the Rev. Mr. McDougal by saying that as he was born in Scotland he was free to speak his convictions and that the speaker of the evening was an American by choice and not by accident. He told of how the Rev. McDougal had under the appointment of the governor of Alabama made the prison system of that state one of the best in the nation; how that the speaker had not only appeared on the platform throughout the United States and appealed for pure Americanism but had fought for his ideals on the field of battle and that he had shown himself under all circumstances to be one hundred per cent American.

Rev. McDougal began his lecture by saying that he had been in practically every country in the world but that he thought the one of his choice was the greatest country on the globe and pointing to the United States flag that waved beside the speaker's stand he said "and I believe that is the greatest flag in the world." He pointed out that we are accustomed to saying that Columbus discovered America, but that in reality it took the Kaiser to discover it and that the histories of the United States should all be changed for the America of today is not what it was when selfishness and indifference blinded the most of our people to the great ideal for which Old Glory stands. "We can not go back to the conditions of the pre-war period," said the speaker; "for a new ideal has been revealed to us, we have discovered America anew and have consecrated our highest and noblest efforts for the ideal which we can now see in its purity and which is symbolized by yonder flag."

"You can never make a man good by legislation," said the speaker; "nor can you make an American citizen—the change must come from within and not through legislation or external forces." Rev. McDougal said that in other places he had been interrupted and that he had frequently been denied the use of a house in which to speak but that he had been telling his audiences that the war "is still on" and that it began in Eden. He referred to the statement recently made in Houston by a Catholic priest who refused to uncover his head in the presence of the American flag which had been presented to the "war mothers" by the members of the Ku Klux Klan, on the pretext that since it was the gift of that organization it deserved the reverence accorded to it. He said he would leave an open challenge to the Houston priest and would like to meet him on the platform where he would prove that the priest who refused to salute the flag, and others of the Catholic faith, were not only not true Americans but were "anti-American" if they were true Catholics.

In support of his statement the speaker quoted from the decree issued by Pope Leo XIII giving the cardinal principles of the faith. He said that the Roman Catholic dream was to gain power over both the spiritual and temporal world and that in the plan enunciated by the Pope all Catholics must accept without question the statement that the Pope is the direct representative of the Supreme Being on earth and that he claims dominion over three kingdoms—the kingdom of heaven, the kingdom of earth and the kingdom of hell. Rev. McDougal also read the decree issued by the Pope in 1907 which declared that all marriages were illegal unless contracted in presence of a parish priest and that there was no sanctity in the Protestant marriage and home.

"Old Glory represents and symbolizes our American institutions," said the speaker, "and it is the ideal—the liberty, the freedom and the sanctity of all that it represents that makes the United States flag the pride of all true Americans who are glad of the privilege of saluting it. We are not fighting the Roman Catholics," said Rev. McDougal. "We are trying to save them—to give them the liberty and freedom of thought that we enjoy under our flag. But one who eats the bread of this land should be made to salute the flag and if he owes allegiance to Rome or to some other foreign power he should be escorted out of the country and aided to return to the country of his affection and to the land of his faith."

Rev. McDougal pointed out that the American people were not loyal enough to the system of public schools in this country and said that they should be made wholly American. He told of reading in a California newspaper of two advertisements, one for a school teacher offering $135 a month; the other for a negro barber and offering $150 a month. He said further that the Roman Catholic church has been a constant and deadly enemy in this country to our system of public schools. He said he was told that San Antonio was a Catholic city, but that he wanted to deny that statement, that it was a Texas city and that it should be made one hundred per cent American. On the Fourth of July when he was in New Orleans, the speaker said he could see no flags of the United States waving in celebration of the day but that on a different date, which was a Catholic holiday, Old Glory waved only with the flag of the Catholic nation. He was told, the speaker said, that New Orleans was a Catholic city. "I deny that statement, however," he shouted; "it is an American city and its citizens should be made one hundred per cent American. We must do our duty to our schools," said Rev. McDougal; "and we must see to it that they are let alone by Rome."

Rev. McDougal said he was not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, that he knew nothing about it and, since the members would not talk and he was not on the inside, he had nothing to say about the organization other than the fact that he wanted to go to record as endorsing the principles for the perpetuation of which the Klan was organized. He pointed out, however, that the members of the Catholic faith are in opposition to the Klan and that "was sufficient recommendation for the Klan" in the opinion of the speaker. He pointed out that the Catholics had always opposed the Masons and that there was friction in the conduct of the war until anti-Catholics or Masons were put in charge of the operations of the armies and navy. He said that the power of Rome had made itself felt in our national and state governments, and that in some cases it was even taking root in our cities. As to the Pope's claim on the Kingdom of Heaven the speaker said he was not concerned and that he was satisfied that God would and could take care of that; but as to his claim to the kingdom of the earth he was satisfied that "as long and wherever Old Glory continues to wave Rome shall not rule." As to the other place which the Pope claims, "when he gets there he will quit saying ugly things about us, stop fighting our public schools and quit denouncing the sanctity of the American home and our institution of marriage," the speaker concluded.

Rev. McDougal was frequently applauded and the audience endorsed what he said. He concluded by saying "that the reason the Ku Klux Klan had sprung into existence was to combat such non-American forces as he had been describing and that all 'isms' that were not true Americanism must perish in America and that all must rally to the ideals which the flag symbolizes and keep the American institutions pure and free from the dictation of doctrines that denounce the sanctity of the American home and faith."

A. & M. COLLEGE BUDGET ESCAPES BLUE PENCIL

Governor Neff Approves College and University Bill Without Veto—The Remainder of the Bill Was Cut $138,545.

(Special to the Bryan Eagle)
Austin, Texas, Sept. 7.—The educational appropriations bill was signed by Governor Neff late last night after he had reduced the total by $138,545. The bill as signed carries $9,507,084 for the two fiscal years beginning Sept. 1, 1921, and ending Aug. 31, 1923. As it came to the Governor the measure called for $4,916,274 the first year and $4,729,381 the second year or a total of $9,645,629 for the support of the state's educational institutions during the next two fiscal years. The budgets of the University of Texas, Agricultural and Mechanical College, College of Industrial Arts and all the established normals were left untouched by the executive blue pencil, but all of the appropriation for the new Stephen F. Austin Normal at Nacogdoches was cut out except $175,000 for buildings.

NACOGDOCHES NORMAL BUILDING IS SAVED. Governor Neff announced in this connection it had been agreed no part of even the $175,000 should be withdrawn from the state treasury before Jan. 1, 1923. He pointed out, however, that contract for the building might be let as early as September, 1922. The veto of this part of the bill will have the effect of postponing opening of the normal till September, 1923. The budget for the Stephen F. Austin Normal as it came to the Governor called for $195,250 the first year and $99,695 the second year or a total of $294,945. The Governor cut this down by $119,945. Thus the biggest reduction in the bill was effected in the normal budget and the largest part of the reduction was for the first year. Other cuts amounting to approximately $30,000 were made in the various other smaller educational institutions; the items being principally for improvements. No places on the instruction staffs were eliminated.

OTHER AMOUNTS VETOED. Besides the reductions made in the Stephen F. Austin Normal budget the following amounts were stricken out: For the John Tarleton Agricultural College $1,000, Grubbs Vocational College $2,000, Prairie View State Normal and Industrial College for Negroes $3,700, Texas School for the Blind $7,500, Texas School for the Deaf $4,400. As the bill was signed by the Governor it carried $1,394,641 each year for the University of Texas, all branches; $1,215,402 the first year and $1,212,681 the second year for A. and M. College including the experimental stations, extension service and State Forester. The educational appropriations bill was the last to be acted on by the Governor.

NEFF VETOES BILL ABOLISHING EXTREME PRISON PUNISHMENT

(By Associated Press)
Austin, Texas, Sept. 7.—Governor Neff today vetoed the bill by Senator Hertzberg of Bexar county abolishing the use of chains and limiting the use of the strap or "bat" in punishing convicts. The governor pointed out in his veto message that at his suggestion the use of chains was abandoned some time ago. He said that therefore this part of the bill was needless legislation.

He said in reference to limiting the strap to three offenses as the bill did that convicts could not be punished by use of the strap for other various equally bad offenses. The bill says the strap shall be used only for (1) taking part in mutiny; (2) striking a penitentiary official, and (3) fighting another convict. The governor said that if the strap were limited to these offenses the convicts might set fire to the buildings or other similar offenses and still the strap could not be used as punishment. He further pointed out that the present law requires the strap to be used only by order of the prison commissioners and in presence of a physician.

COL. OUSLEY FOR SENATOR.

Col. Clarence Ousley of Fort Worth has announced as a candidate for United States Senator in 1922. There were a number of candidates in the race when Colonel Ousley announced among them: Senator Chas. A. Culberson of Dallas, R. L. Henry of Waco, ex-Governor O. B. Colquitt of Dallas, Cullen F. Thomas of Waco, L. W. Parish of Denton, Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, Fred W. Davis of Austin, Railroad Commissioner Earle B. Mayfield of Bosque county, Thos. B. Love of Dallas and perhaps others.

APPOINTMENTS

Dr. J. J. Taubenhans, of A. & M. College has been selected to deliver an address in New Orleans on November 8, at a joint meeting of the society for the promotion of agricultural science and the association of the Land Grant Colleges of the United States. The invitation is extended to Dr. Taubenhans by Secretary Jacob G. Lipman of New Brunswick, N. J.

The Bryan Eagle is willing and anxious to aid every movement in Bryan and Brazos county that will aid in the development of our resources and prosperity. It is ready to back and support every worthy institution and every citizen who is trying to accomplish something for his community, county and section. This is the policy of the Eagle and is the correct newspaper policy, should be followed by every correspondent and newspaper. Do not fail to read Monday's Eagle. There will be something worth while for every citizen to ponder over.

Colonel George Bailey, of the Houston Post, says: "Portland, Ore., announces 'ham and' with spuds at 20 cents. Alas, the round trip fare from Houston to Portland is about $125." As long as the waiters and porters in Houston draw more "salaries" than bank and college presidents we may expect ham and eggs and spuds to be $3.00 per order in Houston. So George you had better raise the $125 and go to Portland. The sooner you leave Houston the better.

The World's Board of Aeronautical Commissioners with headquarters in New York has appointed Representatives Lee J. Rountree of Brazos county a sectional chairman in Texas with Col. J. E. Farnsworth, of Dallas, as state chairman for Texas. The purpose of the movement in the United States is to advance aeronautics and encourage the use of aircraft in transportation of passengers, mail and merchandise to all parts of the world.

The Houston Post says: "Postmaster George D. Armistead of San Antonio is a game bird," writes Hugh Fitzgerald in the Wichita Falls News Record. That's what Will Hays thought and, since the open season for democratic game birds was on, he turned both barrels loose on George and got him." The Eagle for the first time since George came to Texas twenty-five years ago hears him referred to as a "dove." Wonderful!

The cooks, chefs, porters and waiters in many of the big hotels in Texas are receiving more money than university and college presidents in Texas. Two advertisements appeared in the same newspaper. One read: "Wanted—A teacher at $75 per month." The other advertisement read: "Wanted—A head porter. The place will pay $200 per month." This is a fast age, indeed.

The Eagle is anxious to know what Judge H. H. Cummins, Grayson county representative said to Hon. Henry E. Ellis, editor of the Denison Herald, when he returned from Austin. Henry once represented Limestone county in the legislature and knows what to say under certain conditions. Denison is only fifteen miles from Red River—then it is the Indian country north.

Everybody seems on a strike in Russia and they are appealing to the United States to save the starving women and children in Russia. Unless 500,000 unemployed men in the United States go to work there will be some bread lines in this country this winter. It is time for everybody to go to work and quit begging.

Now that George D. Armistead has been ousted as postmaster at San Antonio, George states that he may run for congress. George was once a newspaper man before he was postmaster and of course he has money enough to run for congress for the next year or so.

Soviet Russia does not believe in production. It believes in issuing paper money by the dray load. Thousands of women and babies are starving in Soviet Russia. The Russians must go to work and produce food and clothing or they will become the greatest criminals of all the ages.

The latest scandal in Chicago is the coffin trust that charges the victims $200 to $500 for $20 and $30 burial caskets. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis should get busy or be required to pay $1,000 for a $20 casket when he is buried.

ANOTHER SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

(Editor Henry E. Ellis in Denison Herald.)

Thus discourses Editor Lee J. Rountree editorially in the Bryan Eagle: "It is generally believed in Austin that as the penitentiary system of Texas has totally collapsed after 20 years of mismanagement and inefficiency that Governor Neff will be forced to call a special session of the legislature about next January at which time the penal institutions and all taxation matters will be submitted for legislative action. This is one of the inevitable results of the weak administrations in Texas for the past few years."

Editor Rountree might resent the imputation that he is approaching the shady side of life, but nevertheless he is familiar with the political history of the state for the past thirty or more years. In fact, he has been associated intimately with the principal events of the period named, which go to make up the recorded history of the state, therefore he is in position to speak advisedly about men and things.

And when he refers to the collapse of the penitentiary system he simply gives expression to an actual fact. Whether it is due to mismanagement or not The Herald will not presume to say. It may be due to the faulty system under which it operated, and which has undergone several changes during the past twenty years. And it is to be noticed that with every change matters have become worse and conditions more intolerable.

But the Eagle says it is the result of weak administrations in Texas for the past few years. Well, if the administrations have been weak, if they have failed to measure up to the standard of efficiency the public service demanded, who is to blame? Did not the people select the administrations, be they good or bad? Were they not chosen in primary elections where every man's vote counted? And was not the primary system of making nominations offered as a panacea for "boss controlled" conventions where the people's voice was hushed and their will suppressed?

All of which Editor Rountree will admit as true; and he will further concur in the statement that the decline in the management of our state government dates practically from the substitution of the primary system for the convention method of nominating officials. Go back, if you will, to the early days of Texas' history and come on down to thirty years ago, when by delegated authority, men best fitted for certain official duties were called to serve the state. They were in no sense candidates, owed no political obligations and had but one purpose to serve and that the best interests of the state. And the record of government up to that time is a mass of brilliant pages to which we all delight to refer from time to time.

—And then we changed the system, since which time, as stated by the Bryan editor, we have had weak administrations. The cost of government has increased more than 4,000 per cent and the results are not anything like they were before we "reformed." The penitentiary system was a paying concern before we took up the ideas of progressive government. Instead of the management calling upon the legislature for appropriations to cover deficits it had a surplus to turn into the state treasury which assisted in keeping the tax rate down to a minimum amount. Now it is necessary to levy the maximum that the penitentiary may have enough money to run on.

Is it any wonder then that a few—call us tallow dippers, if you will—would return not to the days but to the methods of a quarter century ago that gave us the best government on earth at a minimum of cost.

Just as long as labor and capital fight over the railroads in the United States the people must pay higher and higher freight and passenger rates. After a while rates will be so high nobody can ship goods and produce or ride on the trains. The conditions are becoming deplorable.

Mr. John C. Burns, secretary, Texas Short-horn Breeders' Association, and generally recognized as the best livestock man in the West, gives some helpful suggestions for fitting Short-horn cattle for show, and sale, but his suggestions are also applicable to other breeds of cattle. Among other things, he makes the following statements: "There are numerous ways of advertising purebred cattle, but breeders have long recognized that, in effectiveness, none excels the show ring and the public sale ring. The advertising will be favorable or unfavorable according to the degree of excellence or inferiority of the cattle exhibited in the show ring or sold through the public sale ring. It naturally follows that in either case the better the cattle the more favorable will be the advertising as well as the greater will be the returns in premiums and prices.

There are mainly two factors upon which success in the show ring depends; first, the selection of a promising individual endowed through good breeding with the right kind of possibilities, and second, the application of such feeding and care as will enable the animal to develop according to its possibilities. It is needless to state that the best kind of an animal may prove an absolute failure in the hands of a poor feeder, and that the very best feeder will fail to develop a superior animal out of a scrub.

As a general rule the development of a show animal of high merit must begin with the calf in the matter of feeding and care, though, of course, the production of the right kind of a calf must begin with the proper selection and mating of its sire and dam. It is always preferable to select calves that will show with as much ease as the calves to which they belong will permit. Individuality, however, should not be sacrificed to accomplish this, and such should not be necessary of cows from which show calves are to be selected are bred at the proper time. At the larger shows junior and senior classes are provided for both calves and yearlings of each sex, the base date for juniors being January 1, and for seniors, September 1. Thus, for the coming show season, beginning the latter part of summer and lasting through next spring, a junior calf must have been dropped after January 1, 1921; a senior calf, after January 1, 1920 and before January 1, 1921; and a junior yearling, after January 1, 1920 and before September 1, 1920; and a senior yearling, after September 1, 1919 and before January 1, 1920.

Fitting the calf should begin when it is only a few weeks old or, at most, only a few months old. Milk is one of the best feeds that can be used for its development, and for the first three to six weeks of its life milk only is necessary. Most Short-horn cows produce more milk than their calves take during the first few weeks. Too much milk and, especially, that which has become stale from remaining in the udder too long, will often cause scours, or other digestive disorders, which may give the calf a serious setback and require several weeks of skillful care and attention to overcome. Therefore, it is important that the dam's udder be milked clean each morning and evening after the calf is through nursing not only for the welfare of calf, but in order to prevent spoiled quarters and at the same time to stimulate milk production, thus making the cow the better mother.

The calf intended for show should be allowed about all the milk it will take until it is twelve months old, or even older in many instances. During the first six to eight weeks after birth there is no better plan than to let the calf run on pasture with its dam. At the end of this period it is best to keep the cow and her calf in separate pastures and to turn them together at the barn or feeding shed for nursing twice daily—morning and evening. When the calf is from three to six weeks old it is well to start it eating grain, even though it still runs with its dam. A handful of a mixture of equal parts by measure of cracked corn, whole oats and wheat bran, supplied morning and evening in a low box inaccessible to the cow, makes an excellent ration for starting it. When the calf has reached from three to four months of age its ration of concentrates may consist of 45 per cent oats, 30 per cent ground corn, 15 per cent wheat bran, and 10 per cent cottonseed meal, the proportion being by weight.

Regularity in feeding and in the performance of other routine duties with the cattle should be strictly adhered to. Feeding at six o'clock one morning and at seven o'clock the next morning will never accomplish the best results."

These helpful suggestions from Mr. Burns are given, primarily, for the guidance of the boys in the Short-horn Club, but they may be helpful to all stockmen. All eyes are upon the boys who paid, what seemed to some, a fancy price for a heifer to be used as a foundation stock for a purebred herd. If the conditions necessary to success are not complied with failure will be inevitable, and your reputation crippled. You can not afford to fail in this livestock project which means so much to you, as well as to the livestock industry of the county. This is an opportunity for each of you to demonstrate what proper feeding, care and attention will produce in a purebred animal. Nobody will want your stock if it is poor. All will want what you have if it is the best to be found. Brazos county expects you to succeed.

Some days ago Milton Smith, son of County Superintendent Eck Smith, and club member of A. & M. consolidated school, reported that his fine Duroc gilt had broken out of pen and her whereabouts could not be ascertained. County Agent Beason had volunteered to go and assist the anxious club member in a thorough search for the valuable hog, but a later report came stating that the hog had been found and by her side are nine fine pigs, all red like the "mama" hog and six of them of the same sex.

PIECE OF WELL ROPE COST 3 MEN $37.50

Sheriff L. E. Morehead received a telephone message Wednesday from Deputy Wood Glass of Navasota to the effect that three men had stolen a well rope near that place and that he was holding them until Mr. Morehead could go to Navasota. Sheriff Morehead and City Marshal W. S. Martin started down the Navasota road and got as far as Millican. There they found Deputy Glass with the three alleged rope thieves whom they took in charge and returned to Bryan. It developed that the three men were traveling through the country from a North Texas oil field, the three having two automobiles. Near Navasota one of the cars went dead and since the men had nothing with which to pull the balky car they went to a well nearby where they proceeded to take possession of the rope that was used in drawing water. The owner of the well charged them with stealing the rope and, although he offered to compromise the matter, the three young men refused the offer. The arrest followed as did the trip of Sheriff Morehead and City Marshal Martin to Millican. One of the men confessed to taking the rope and when they arrived in Bryan a fine of $37.65 was assessed. The man who pleaded guilty was at first inclined to protest the fine but the other two advised him to pay it. No charge was filed against the other two and when the fine was paid the three departed on their journey with the $37.65 rope.

BURL, BRAZOS BOTTOM COON HUNTER, DEAD

Marlin, Texas, Sept. 1.—Brazos bottom coons are breathing easier, Burl Hutchings is dead. Burl was a negro and was recognized as the most expert trailer of coon in this section. For many years Burl led countless expeditions through bog and fen and foul morass in pursuit of fleeing coons. His metallic, resounding halloo answered by sharp-cut stucco barks of coon dogs close upon their quarry was known throughout the country adjacent to the river. Burl on the trail of a coon presented a consuming picture of concentration. For his dogs there was no let up except an occasional pause for rest until they had treed their prey. Burl shinned the trunk and would send Mr. Coon hurtling to the ground. Ensued a fight such as can be appreciated in its fullest measure of excitement only by those who have witnessed a battle between coon and dogs.

DETAILS OF WRECK BRYAN AND CENTRAL INTERURBAN RAILWAY

Mr. C. S. Beckwith made a trip out to the wreck on the Bryan and Central Texas Railway this morning four miles from Bryan this side of Smetana. Mr. Roscoe (Buddie) Knowles is a brother-in-law of Mr. Beckwith and he was deeply concerned in the tragedy on Thursday that cost Johnnie May his life and that causes Louie Eden to lie at the point of death. Mr. Beckwith says that the engine is still lying in the ditch where it plunged Thursday after a portion of the trestle gave way. On the engine and flat were Albert May, Roscoe Knowles, Johnnie May, aged eleven years, and Louie Eden, aged sixteen years. They were engaged in taking up some sidings on the "Pea Vine" road for removal from the right-of-way. The road was recently enjoined from taking up the tracks, but the order did not cover the removal of the sidetracks. The tragedy of Thursday cast a gloom over the entire community.

FUNERAL OF JOHNNIE MAY IS HELD TODAY 5 P. M. AT RESIDENCE

The funeral of Johnnie Hudson May, who died at 3:10 o'clock Thursday afternoon, will be conducted this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert May. Rev. H. C. Willis will conduct the service. Interment will be made in the city cemetery.

The little fellow was eleven years and three days of age. He had accompanied his father yesterday afternoon out on the Bryan & Central Texas road. Buddie Knowles, Louis Eden, Johnnie May and his father were taking an engine out on the road to get some rails that had been taken up in the bottom. Mr. May was in charge of the engine while Buddie Knowles was acting as fireman. As the road had not been in use for some time weeds and grass had sprung up and obscured the track from view, and it is said no one in the party could see the rails or tell what condition the road was in.

They reached the Thompson Creek bridge safely, which is about five miles from the city, but when the engine started across the accident occurred. The bridge gave way beneath the weight of the engine which fell approximately five feet and turned over on its side. All on board were bruised to some extent but the injuries would have been slight had the steam pipe held intact. It broke and the steam and scalding water were loosed on those within. Johnnie May, Buddie Knowles and Louis Eden were caught in the wreckage while all the time the burning water was escaping upon them. The elder May was unhurt but in trying to rescue the boys he received some severe burns. Johnnie May and Louis Eden were rushed to the Bryan hospital where Johnnie died soon after arriving. He is known to practically everyone in the city and was highly esteemed by all his little friends for his genial and sunny disposition. While the formerly happy home is saddened by the tragedy and the loss of the little one, hosts of friends of little Johnnie and of the family grieve with them in their great sorrow.

Louis Eden is still in the hospital and little hope is entertained for his recovery. The scalding water and steam practically covered him resulting in injuries which are most serious and which may prove fatal. Buddie Knowles, who was firing the engine, is reported out of danger. He suffered several bruises and was badly burned about the face and arms. He spent a restless night Thursday night, according to his mother, but is improving rapidly and no serious results are expected.

The genial smile, the sunny disposition and the loyal friendship of little Johnnie May will be sorely missed by his many little friends and playmates. His noble character is summarized by a friend who knew him well; as follows:

"The Heavenly Father has taken from his devoted parents and sister and his loving friends, gallant little Johnnie Hudson May. Happy and joyous Thursday at noon, mingling with his little friends, three hours later, like a bolt from the clear skies, his little form was stiller forever.

"To those who did not know this manly little fellow in his vigorous childhood, the fortitude which he displayed while suffering from excruciating burns from head to foot, was a matter of wonder; but a few moments before his death he considerably asked about the condition of one of his playmates who also had been injured; he asked his parents to cease crying for the fate which he was to face in a few minutes. After passing through such an ordeal as tries the soul of the strongest men, this heroic little man was concerned, not about himself but about his friends and loved ones. No World's War was needed to stamp indelibly on his intimate friends the heroic character."

WACO VISITORS GO HOME

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Terrell and children, Katherine and Elizabeth, of Waco, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sanders and other relatives have returned home. Mr. Terrell is a law partner of Senator H. W. Witt of Waco, and has just closed the management of a $5,000,000 road bond campaign in McLennan county, which was lost on account of the unprecedented business conditions. Mrs. Lee J. Rountree accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Terrell to Waco today where she will visit her sister, Mrs. W. M. Kelly for a few days.

SEVERAL BURNED IN THE "PEA-VINE" ROAD ENGINE ACCIDENT

Chas. Merka, of Smetana, brought to the Bryan Hospital about 1 o'clock Friday Albert May, better known as Casey Jones, and Buddie Knowles, who had charge of the engine on the Bryan & Central Texas, known as the "Pea Vine road," to receive treatment for scalds and burns received when the engine turned a somersault about five miles from Bryan. Two small boys were also burned and scalded. It seems that the side tracks were being taken up near Smetana when the accident occurred. While the parties were severely burned, none are hurt seriously. Mr. Merka was near when the accident occurred and in answer to calls for help hurried the burned men here for prompt medical treatment.

LOUIE EMERY EDEN WILL BE BURIED AT 5 THIS AFTERNOON

(From Saturday's Daily)

Louie Emery Eden is the second victim of the tragedy Thursday afternoon on the Bryan & Central Texas railroad. Rushed to the hospital soon after the accident occurred, he was given every attention and the best medical care that could have been obtained anywhere. Little hope, however, was entertained from the first for his recovery for the scalding steam and water that poured out over him when the engine took the fatal plunge caused such serious injuries that it was seen that recovery would be almost a miracle. It proved too much for him to bear and he breathed his last Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the hospital. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Methodist church. Rev. H. C. Willis, pastor, will conduct the service and Rev. J. M. Bullock, a lifelong friend of the family, will be present and also participate in the services. Interment will be made at the city cemetery.

Louie Eden was the elder of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Eden. At the time of his death he was 16 years, 6 months and 7 days of age. He was born at Harvey, Brazos county, but had lived in Bryan practically all his life. He was a second year student at the Allen Academy R. O. T. C. and had endeavored himself to all his school mates by his quiet, studious, unassuming and gentlemanly manners. Louie leaves a mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Eden, one brother, C. L., Jr., and five sisters, Misses Ethel, Leona, Josephine, Nellie and baby Mildred, who are broken hearted because he will be with them no more in this world. Although suffering from the fearful burns Louie was nobly heroic through it all and was more concerned for his broken hearted loved ones than he was for himself.

The pallbearers were chosen from among Louie's most intimate boy friends. They are: Bill Allen, John Terrie, Glen Cloud, Reid Mitchell, Dorris Battle of Rock Prairie and Albert Worley. Those who are left behind in deepest sorrow are reminded of the comforting thought that where Louie now is there are no pains and tears but the eternal joys of that "home not made with hands."

SAM CENTENNA DIED FROM HIS INJURIES

Sam Centenna the aged farmer living near Kurten, who had the misfortune to fall from his wagon Thursday and break his arm and shoulder, having his skull crushed, died last night and will be buried today. Mr. Centenna was about 65 years of age and was bringing a load of peanuts to the Bryan market when the accident occurred. The family have the sympathy of the community.

BODY OF MAJOR WHO DIED ABROAD COMING

The body of Major Fiske Wright has reached Hoboken, according to advices which reached Waco yesterday. Burial will take place in Waco, but the date of arrival of the body here is not yet known. Major Wright was killed in action in France, Oct. 8, 1918. He was, at the time of his death, attached to the third battalion, 141st regiment of artillery, Thirty-sixth division, composed chiefly of Texas young men. When the United States entered the war he was captain of company K, and was made a major soon after his company was made a part of the national army. He saw active service on the Texas border before the war. He was unusually popular.—Waco News Tribune.

Major Wright was a graduate of the A. & M. College and had a host of friends at College and in Bryan. He was married to Miss Ray Conway of this city and his widow and little daughter, Sue, have been making Bryan their home since the death of the husband and father.

BLOWS ARE EXCHANGED OVER COTTON PICKING PRICE

The price of cotton picking was the subject of an argument early this morning between Tony Salvato and Jack Depuma, which resulted in the exchange of a few blows from each party to the affair. It occurred at the corner of Main and 23rd streets about 7 o'clock this morning. It is understood that the argument developed when each charged the other of raising the price for picking cotton. Each resented the charge and emphasized the statements by a few blows with the fist. City Marshal W. S. Martin arrested both men soon after the fight and took them before the city court where both pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $8.20 each.

BRYAN ROTARY CLUB LAUNCH 1921 FOOT BALL ACTIVITIES

The Bryan high school football season was enthusiastically launched Wednesday at the Rotary luncheon when the Bryan Rotary Club had as its guests the letter men of Bryan high school. Coach C. B. Hudson in a rousing talk predicted that at the end of the season, the team would have the high school championship of Texas. Earl Tatum, captain of the squad, pledged the team's best efforts for the season and asked for the support of every organization in the county. He pledged the team to a clean, fair and honest game and if those characteristics with plenty of hard work and determination would bring the Texas championship to Bryan, we would have it at the end of the season. Professor Madison Hall, superintendent of schools, made a splendid talk to the members of the club and their guests on the relation the Rotary Club bears toward the educational institutions of the city.

Rotarian E. E. McAdams, chairman of the pep committee, in a talk full of pep, pledged the active assistance of the Bryan Rotary Club to the high school football team and stated to Coach Hudson and the members of the team that the Rotary Club wanted them to feel that their most enthusiastic supporters in the city was the Bryan Rotary Club. Mr. McAdams has just returned from a two weeks visit in Mineral Wells, Texas, and was the guest of two weekly luncheons of the Mineral Wells Rotary Club.

Prof. R. O. Allen, chairman of the educational committee of the local club, gave an instructive talk on the methods used by Rotary Clubs in selecting members.

Those present were President T. K. Lawrence, Mayor Tyler Haswell, Jno. M. Lawrence, G. Sam Parker, Jno. C. Vick, C. E. Jones, M. L. Parker, Wilson Bradley, R. W. Howell, Oak McKenzie, J. T. S. Park, Reb. H. B. Jamison, Prof. R. O. Allen, F. L. Henderson, E. B. LaRoche, E. E. McAdams, D. E. Moore, M. E. Wallace, C. E. Friley, and the following guests: T. A. Adams, Prof. Madison Hall, C. V. Hudson, Earl Tatum, Aubrey Pate, Edward Levinson, Howard Satterwhite, Roy Wilson, Johnny Ramsey, Mark Wilcox, Alton Boyett, Ralph Turner, Norman Dansby, Milton Dansby, Willie Dubrovinsky, Christopher Cortemelia and J. BRYAN CITY SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

The Bryan city teachers are away at college this week attending the Central Texas Teachers' Institute, while workmen are getting the school plant ready for next week. Public exercises will be held in the high school auditorium with all the pupils and teachers belonging to the East Side school present. All members of the school board, the patrons and friends of education are cordially invited and are expected to be present.

Superintendent Hall and the high school faculty will meet to classify and to arrange courses with individuals of the classes in the high school as follows: Seniors on Friday at 3 p. m., September 9. Juniors on Saturday at 9 a. m., September 10. Sophomores, on Saturday at 3 p. m., September 10. Freshmen on Monday at 1 p. m., September 12. All pupils who expect to enter the Bryan city high school at this time, are advised to take notice and be present on the day and at the hour designated for registration of their respective classes.

In a community such as Bryan it is doubtless unnecessary to urge that each pupil be present at the beginning of the school year and be present on time each day. It is particularly necessary that a pupil get the general outline of the subject as presented in the first lessons. It is of incalculable value that a student should have some knowledge of the unusually difficult places of the road that he proposes to travel, and also that he have some notion of what the end of the journey is like, and of how he may reasonably be expected to behave both on the road and on his arrival at the goal. Such general views are given, in many subjects, in the first lessons. If these are missed it is often difficult for the student to get his bearings, and the later faint flickers of interest are too often of short duration. The pupil becomes dissatisfied with school and dislikes all that pertains to it. He leaves school or becomes a plague spot in the school community. The consequence in either case is an imperfectly developed citizen that will retard the progress of the next generation.

Today a college education is a necessity. It is true there have been some notable successes achieved by men without college training. But the big end of every big thing has always been done by trained thinkers. Today it is next to impossible to enter college without successfully completing four years of high school study. Our country expects every youth to exert himself to the utmost to be ready to grapple victoriously with the increasingly complex problems that the progress of a free people keeps ever unfolding.

ALLEN ACADEMY OPENS SEPTEMBER 14

September 14 has been set for the date of the opening for the Allen Academy of Bryan, Texas, and all football men are expected to report for training on the same afternoon. Both new and old boys who have not received notice previous to this should report to the school in time to get in togs for a light workout on this date. Head Coach B. H. Moore has arrived and is spending the week putting the gridiron in shape for the season. Prospects are very bright for a championship team at the academy as Mr. Moore will begin the season with a wealth of material. Twenty of last year's men and squad are to return and several stars from the high schools of Georgia, Louisiana and Texas are expected to fill all gaps caused in the line-up by graduation of last year's players.

Of last year's men, Captain-Elect Johnson, Thornham, Stryker and Hudspeth will return for the position of tackles. Guards to return are Parks, House, Clemer, King, Pearson and Taylor, while the ends will be selected no doubt from among Stewart, Houston, Weems, Martin, Ashford and Letney. Thomas Blakeley, captain last year, will alternate between quarter and end, while the pivot position will no doubt go to Armstrong, who was with Bryan High during the last season. Brown, Blakeley, McConnell, Rannels, Garvey and French will make an exceptionally strong set of backs. Among the new men expected Bendell, Beall, Garrett and a Georgia product are perhaps the most promising for these positions. About forty candidates for the team will report for work on the opening date. A hard schedule has been arranged and should Allen go through the season successfully the school will again be the undisputed champions in academy football.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT OPENING OF A. & M. TEACHER INSTITUTE

(Special to The Eagle)
College Station, Texas, September 5.—President W. B. Bizzell formally opened the fourth annual session of the Central Texas Teachers' Institute with an address in Guion Hall this morning to the 679 teachers from the counties of Brazos, Burleson, Grimes, Leon, Madison, Robertson, Freestone and Limestone who have registered for the work this week. Professor Martin L. Hayes, director of the institute presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker.

President Bizzell warmly welcomed the teachers, stating that it was one of his greatest desires to have all those engaged in the teaching profession in Texas to inspect the College plant and learn something of the work that it is doing in the state. By telling of his recollection of the conduct of teachers' institutes in the early years of this century he drew a comparison in the effect of the old time institute where a few teachers in the district were called on to read papers on some subject on which they were not well informed and the one that he was now opening with a program including many short courses of instruction by specialists trained especially in the line of work in which he was interested.

The speaker approached a short discussion of pedagogy by a statement which he said he was sure was a controversial one and which would probably be considered as heresy by many. His statement was that teachers read too much pedagogical literature and too little on the subject of developing community life.

The object of the teacher in studying to promote himself in his profession should be to enlarge his vision, his understanding of human nature and sharpen his faculties of discernment he said, and this should lead him to a more generous reading of literature with much broader educational perceptions than is included in the books on technical school room management and methods of class conduction. He said a large part of the pedagogical literature was mere junk and that one of the greatest uses that could be made of our educational specialists today was to employ them in leading the teachers out of the field of pedagogical literature.

Touching on the public school system President Bizzell said that from his observation of the boys who came to A. & M. College from the public schools that those schools were trying to teach too many subjects. He said a narrow curriculum was needed in order that the young people could be trained in thoroughness instead of being schooled in a variety of general subjects. "In other words," he said, "we need more boys who can extract the square root. They ought not to have to remember the formula for solving such simple problems but instead should be so grounded in the subject that they could make their own rules. The supreme need is thoroughness and a proper perspective of the subject matter itself."

A most dangerous and evil tendency that is progressing in the high schools and extending into the colleges and universities, he said, was that of socializing the schools to the point that the children do not understand what they go to school for. He said this was manifested in the colleges and universities by the fact that 50 per cent of the boys and girls who went to our colleges and universities these days do not go for an education but to get identified with the social clubs. "The proclivity is toward making social clubs out of our higher institutions of learning," he said, "and I have never had any ambition to be the president of a social club but the head of a school or system of schools that reached its goal of education through hard work, study, self-denial and even sacrifice."

President Bizzell told the teachers that the events of the last few weeks had caused him to meditate the possibility that the majority of the people in the state were not in favor of a system of higher education. He said the action of the state legislature was conducive to such thoughts and told how at midnight which marked the close of the first special session of the Thirty-seventh Legislature which was called to pass the educational appropriation bill, when that bill was finally refused by the house how members of that body hugged each other round the neck and danced in savage glee on the floor of the house because they thought the governor would not call another special session of the legislature and therefore the state higher institutions of learning would have to close their doors for two years at least.

He told them that if ever they acquired any egotistical ideas about the faith that the people had in the work they were doing that attendance on a session of their state legislature when the educational appropriation bill was under consideration would fully cure them.

The remedy for this condition he said was for the teachers of the state who were influential factors to use their individual power in sending to the legislature men who were qualified for service there by an understanding of the possibilities of education and its necessity in any program of government or civilized society. He said there were many men in the legislature who ought not to be there because they did not have that understanding. In concluding he admonished them to believe strongly in the thing they were doing and thereby convince the common people of the state that their work was worthwhile and lead them to see that we cannot look optimistically to the future for a great and prosperous state except with a functioning educational system.

Beginning at 8 o'clock this evening a program of music and motion pictures will be given in the Airdome

FORCED TO QUIT SAYS DEPOT MAN HAD NO STRENGTH AND NERVES ALL TO PIECES—TANLAC PUT HIM BACK ON JOB

"I gained sixteen pounds in weight in three months after I started taking Tanlac and am now enjoying better general health than I have in years," said Robert Waddy, 308 Gordon street, Topeka, Kans., who is employed at the Rock Island Railroad depot.

"For the past four years," he continued, "I had suffered from stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. I could seldom retain a single thing I ate and after every meal I would fill up with gas something awful. My head ached just about all the time and often I became so dizzy it was all I could do to keep from falling. I continued to go down hill until I got so week I was not able to do my work, and my nerves were in such bad condition it was almost impossible for me to get any sleep and I would lie awake nearly all night long every night of my life. I was also troubled a great deal with constipation, for which I had to be always taking some sort of laxative. Finally I got in bad shape I did not try to eat a thing but boiled sweet milk and do what I would I could not regain my strength or get any better, and was in a terrible fix when I started taking Tanlac."

"I had heard so much about the benefits others were receiving from Tanlac I decided to try it. Well, I had taken two bottles of it before I could notice much improvement in my condition; then my appetite began to get better and I commenced to regain my strength. I kept on taking it until now I have a splendid appetite and eat just anything I want and everything agrees with me perfectly. The headaches and dizzy spells have left me entirely, my nerves are in such fine shape I sleep all night long without ever waking up and always get up feeling greatly refreshed. I have regained my strength completely, am back on the job working every day and have been entirely relieved of constipation. In fact, I am in perfect health every way. Tanlac has certainly put me on my feet and I am glad to tell others about what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Bryan by N. A. Stewart, druggist, and all leading druggists.

BRYAN HI FOOT BALL TEAM GETTING BUSY

(Houston Post)

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH BY DR. JNO. A. HELD

It is always interesting to review the years of labor in any enterprise or institution. It is therefore fitting to hold anniversary services in which to punctuate, so to speak, the years as they slip by and take notice what progress has been made. It is an occasion which lends itself to making it a means of encouragement to those who labor for the success of the cause which they have espoused. Next Sunday Dr. John A. Held will conduct the anniversary services. It is therefore proper for a church that has visional experiences, by which is meant, experiences which have come to people whose hearts and consciences are open for high ideal and respect to humanity's need.

The pastor of the First Baptist church has led his noble people through trying days and stormy weather, always loyal to the noblest behests for that which makes the Christian religion outstanding in humanity's clamant call. Our community has felt the noble and sacrificial labors of this pastor, as he went about, cheerful and giving every one a word of encouragement and glad hand shake. Never too tired to come to the aid of those who need him, giving himself day and night to the service of his people and the community at large, making no difference, when a life stands in need. He has preached and labored in the humblest places as readily as the places of note. As a man of culture and education, he has never failed to respond to any call to help young and old, black and white, educated and uneducated, rich and poor. Being the oldest pastor, in point of service in Bryan, he naturally sees and knows the needs better perhaps than others, but aside from that, never waving to do his full duty at all times.

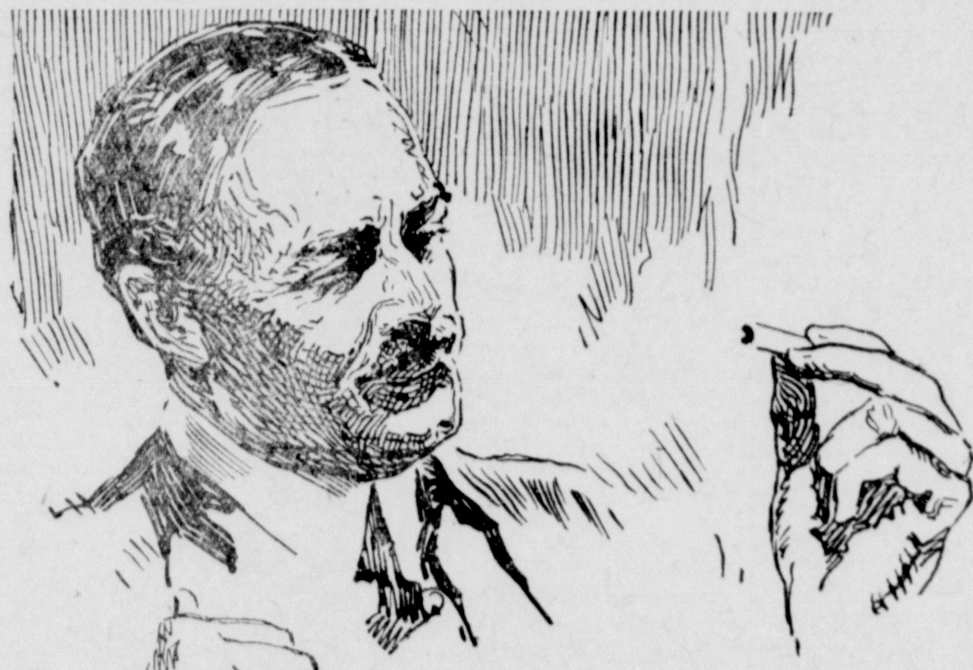

We trust that this man of God, may be permitted to labor many years among us, though efforts have been made and will be made again, from time to time, to move him, we trust he may be permitted to labor with us, to make Bryan's fame for being religious equal to that of his fame for education and culture. We hope that the anniversary may be largely attended and eminently successful.

NEW ASSOCIATION

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTEY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!
